

EMPOWERMENT THROUGH EMPATHY IN NON-FORMAL EDUCATION

THE EMPATHY BOOTCAMP

A great #Empathy Bootcamp took place in Nymindegab (Denmark) from May 25th to June 1st, 2019.

Trainers from Portugal, Italy, Poland and Denmark have learnt a lot about how to develop Empathy in education processes, trying to better combine different methodologies introduced during the week, from Lego Serious Play to Spiral of Consciousness.

This set of good practises will be collected in next months and will be available to disseminate at local and national level.

THE PROJECT

Empowerment through Empathy in NFE is an Erasmus+ strategic partnership, based on the exchange of good practices, that fits the two EU priorities of social inclusion and adult education, being a real opportunity for extending and developing educators' competences in NFE.

The main objective of the project is the creation of an handbook containing all shared methodologies, which should be applied and disseminated to other professionals in this area. Partners will offers participatory workshops for organizations, companies and individuals in each partner countries, with the aim to encourage technicians to free themselves from a series of roles that unconscionably condition their professional conduct.

PROJECT PARTNERS:

Results:

- Creating a learning environment based on collaborative and participatory methodologies through transnational cooperation activities;
- Training 12 professionals, from partner organisations, involved in a process of self-reflection about themselves and their practices;
- Designing of an handbook in emotional literacy, incorporating the skills and experiences of each partner: in this sense, the incorporation of the methodologies used by each of the different partners in the most vulnerable public intervention, will be merged in a training model that promotes emotional literacy of technicians;
- 60 adult educators (15 from each partner country) will be able to disseminate these methodologies.
